

Nurdan Tokoz B.Eng., B.Ed.

Human performance and behaviour change expert

“Adopt and engage new behaviours to achieve sustainable performance solutions.”

DEFINE YOUR RELEVANCE IN A CHANGING WORLD

In our ever-changing, uncertain world, many leaders feel like a hamster stuck in a wheel when it comes to solving their performance issues. They need a mind shift, but they're not sure how to start.

Whether Nurdan's delivering a virtual keynote or leading a face-to-face program, she encourages leaders to embrace reinvention. Audience members feel heard as she shares her unique expertise that demonstrates a new angle on human performance. They leave inspired to take the next steps to sharpen their competitive edge and define relevance in their market.

Nurdan presents both on the stage and in the boardroom, in-person or online.

ABOUT NURDAN

Nurdan is a human performance and behaviour change expert. She has degrees in Industrial Engineering (B.Eng.) and Adult Education (B.Ed.). For over twenty years, she worked as a Learning & Development (L&D) professional in a number of large corporations.

Throughout her career, Nurdan has developed programs and systems to solve human performance challenges within organizations. Her proven methodology, cognitive learning practices, and innovative habit-building tools enable leaders and teams to impact their day-to-day business results.

Nurdan's ultimate goal is to help leaders and teams build new habits to achieve desired performance outcomes, boosting their productivity and profitability. She is fascinated by the science of how our brains learn and the art of transforming information into action.

BENEFITS OF BOOKING NURDAN

NURDAN'S SPEAKING TOPICS

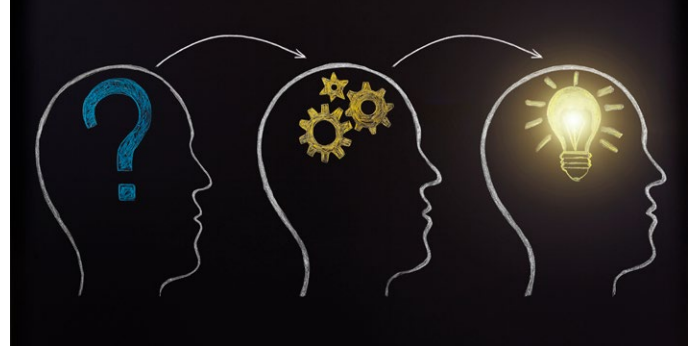

LEADERSHIP PARADIGM SHIFT

How fulfilled leaders achieve the highest results

Fulfilled leaders build fulfilled teams. Period. All it takes is developing critical habits.

As a leader, you are the captain of your ship, working arm in arm with your team as you steer your organization into the future. To do this successfully, you need to think clearly, regulate your emotions, and act with purpose.

At the same time, you need to consider how each member of your team feels – mentally, physically, and emotionally. By understanding their needs, you tap into a secret many organizations don't consider: a fulfilling work environment is THE crucial foundation for all high-performing teams.

ADOPT, ADAPT, ACCELERATE

How new habits will create sustainable results

As a leader, you're investing time, money, and resources to improve your team's performance. But you're haunted by the fear that you won't be able to sustain these improvements.

You strive for change when you realize something's not quite right with your team's performance. You may need to reshape your strategy, but your efforts are bound to fail if your organization doesn't motivate and engage your people in this quest.

Your organization will accelerate performance when your team members adopt and adapt to change. As you support your teams to build new habits, you create an environment for sustainable results that will drive the long-term success of your organization.

INDUSTRY 4.0 + THE HUMAN FACTOR = INDUSTRY 5.0

How to transform your organization's future through human-centred hyper-automation

You want to be a pioneer in today's high-tech and ever-evolving manufacturing environment. But you've learned that technology alone doesn't get you there. What is the missing piece?

For years, manufacturing industries have invested heavily in new technologies, transforming the human assembly line into automated production. With Industry 4.0, which equipped computers to share information and make intelligent decisions, factories have become more efficient and productive while being less wasteful.

But where did all the humans go? Do we even need them in our factories anymore? That's where Industry 5.0 comes in.

RAVE REVIEWS

"Nurdan presents solid, well-researched techniques to engage audiences and change behaviors to enhance performance. Her impressive academic credentials are matched by her interpersonal skills. If you have the opportunity to work with Nurdan, grab it. She'll help you get the results you want."

Marion Grobb Finkelstein
Workplace Communication Consulting and Training

"The knowledge and hands-on experience gained through this training surely surpassed our expectations. She was readily available when additional support was needed and always went above and beyond to offer her services and advice. Her approach can only be described as one of passion and genuine intent to deliver and teach."

Aleema Ogeer-Ali, Chief Operating Officer
AEGIS Outsourcing and Advisory Services

"Nurdan spoke authentically, eloquently and enthusiastically to our members. She engaged the audience with her stories, examples, and the depth and breadth of her knowledge. Our members simply loved her. You will too."

Roger Killen
Producer at Get Inspired Talks

BOOK NURDAN FOR YOUR NEXT EVENT

+1-519-619-8788 | connect@SolutionsForHumanPerformance.com | SolutionsForHumanPerformance.com

